

Akalil meets a wild animal

By Ruth Wickham, Training Fellow, IPGKDRI

Akalil is tired.

That's ok because it's time to go home from school.

Akalil walks slowly.

He is thinking about school.

He remembers a story about wild animals.

He looks at a dog near the road.

The dog looks at him.

Suddenly the dog makes a noise
in its throat.

Akalil stops. He walks away from the dog.

Akalil runs.

The dog runs after Akalil.

Akalil runs faster. He forgets that he is tired.

Akalil looks back at the dog.

Bump! He is surprised.

He sees his friend standing in front of him.

“Are you ok?” says Aakif.

Akalil is out of breath from running.

“Don’t run!” says Aakif. “The dog wants to play.”

Akalil walks home with his friend Aakif.
